

When Daniel and his friends chose to only eat vegetables, they were making other choices for their lives as well.

Look at each vegetable to see the choices that they made.

What choices would you like to make in your life?
Draw some food on the plate and write down the values that you would like to grow.

Why not look at what Daniel and his friends chose to help inspire you.

